

Agricultural scientists from all over the world!

We, members of the National Academy of Agrarian Sciences of Ukraine, turn to you at a difficult time for our country!

Our country has recently been treacherously attacked by a neighboring state that has violated all possible and impossible political and moral principles.

Today, the Russian AGGRESSORS are killing our compatriots, destroying our homes, schools, kindergartens, and civilian infrastructure. Missiles, planes, tanks, vile sabotage and constant threats are used against civilians. Our children, older people and women have been coming out of underground shelters for more than a day, constantly terrified of nearby explosions and machine gun fire.

The whole country is proud of the courage and resilience of our soldiers and volunteers who defend their land, their homes, their relatives and friends.

Today, the whole world sympathizes with Ukraine, condemns the aggressor, provides military and humanitarian aid, and tries to restrain the crucified Kremlin rulers. We are grateful to everyone for this and hope that such unthinkable evil will be justly punished.

We are confident in our rightness, in the triumph of justice, in our victory! Not only international assistance but also the support of our colleagues and friends is important to strengthen this confidence.

In this regard, we appeal to the scientific community of all countries of Europe and the world with a proposal to condemn Russia for the attack and war in Ukraine, to call on all to fight together against the aggressor, to sever all contacts with Russian and Belarusian scientists, who on the 5th (!) day of the war could not oppose the war in Ukraine and condemn the leaders of their countries.

Your protests against the war in Ukraine, assistance in providing humanitarian and military assistance to the Ukrainian people by governments of all countries will be the key to the victory of good over evil, building a new peaceful intellectual society where everyone will feel safe and all countries will focus on sustainable development all over the world.

For peace in the whole world!
Glory to Ukraine!

Presidium of the National Academy of Agrarian Sciences of Ukraine